LOCATE COUPLE WHO REPORTED SUPPOSED HOLD-UP TO SHERIFF

Harold Moore, Camden, and Roma Humphrey, Wilmington, Were Ones

GIRL WILL TESTIFY High Powered Rifle Used Witnesses Say—Boys Shot in Back.

A coroner's verdict in the inquest in the death of Volney Nichols is expected Thursday morning. Indications were Wednesday afternoon, with practically all witnesses heard, that Dr. R. L. Haines, county coroner, would render his verdict Thursday morning. Testimony of Dorsey Nichols and Warren Middleton, injured youths at the Espee Hospital, was taken at the bedside Wednesday afternoon by Coroner Haines. Prosecuting Attorney J. K. Williamson and Mrs. Boland, London court stenographer, Wednesday afternoon. It was substantially the same as given by the other boys.

A new turn in the testimony being taken in the inquest in the death of Volney Nichols, youth who was shot by a sheriff's posse September 8, is expected following the announcement that the man and woman who reported to authorities that there was a supposed hold-up on the Wilmington Pike, had been located.

They are Harold Moore, Camden, son of a former pastor on the Bowersville circuit and Miss Roma Humphrey, who lives eight miles from Wilmington. Miss Humphrey was expected to arrive here late Wednesday afternoon to testify at the inquest, but Moore is said to be suffering from heart trouble as a result of the shooting and to be confined to his bed.

Whether the testimony of Moore will be taken by local officials going to Camden and getting it direct, or whether depositions will be taken, is not yet certain. Miss Humphrey was expected to arrive here at 3:15 o'clock however, from Camden, where she has been at the bedside of Moore, since his illness.

Discovery of the couple was made by Cleophas Mason, Paintersville who is acting as special constable for Dr. Haines, county coroner, during the inquest. Mason overheard a remark of the witness that was not brought out in the inquest and with Dr. Haines he followed it up Tuesday night. The search led them to Wilmington where they found a sister of Miss Humphrey, who divulged the identity of the couple. This sister is also said to have told the officials that her sister and Moore reported that they thought there was a hold-up on the pike and that it should be investigated.

The testimony of the couple is expected to have distinct bearing on the case. Reported "Hold-Up"

Moore and Miss Humphrey are the couple who first reported the "hold-up" to Patrolman Charles Simms and later were taken by him to the office of J. E. Jones, where they told their story to Sheriff L. Funderburg. When the officers' machine departed for the scene they followed, and are said to have been present during the shooting, disappearing after the shooting had subsided. They are said to have promised to bring Volney Nichols to the hospital, but when it was found he was dead, they left. The boys believe they are the people who drove past the tire several times, and finally, when headed toward Xenia, the woman drove and the man stood on the running board to pick up the tire, which was jerked from his grasp.

When the inquest recessed at 11:30 o'clock Wednesday morning, 21 witnesses had been heard, in addition to the 32 whose testimony was taken Tuesday. Some of the witnesses were excused because their testimony merely corroborated testimony of others. Important features of the investigation Wednesday morning were that witnesses who heard the shots said that several guns were used, and that one, evidently a "high-powered rifle," made a louder report than the other others. They also brought out testimony to show that there was a pause in the shooting, followed by a second flurry of shots, and some testified that they heard someone cry "don't shoot" during the pause, although they were some distance from the scene of the shooting. Witnesses also testified to the brightness of the night and the fact that objects could be seen for a great distance.

to pick it up, when it was jerked away from him. He said he told the boys that if he had anything to treat with, he'd give them a treat. The night was clear he said. Oscar Pavett, who lives on the Maple Corner road, four miles from Xenia, heard the shots fired, and said they sounded as if two guns were used. He said the first shot was a loud one from a big gun, "evidently a high-powered rifle." He said it was followed by five or six more shots, then a shot from the big gun, then five or six more shots, and two shots from the big gun. He heard groans following the shooting.

Harry Seifert, Maple Corner road, one-quarter mile from the shooting, heard the shots after he had heard the boys laughing. He thought, eight or ten shots were fired as fast as possible, from more than one gun, and distinguished two or three shots louder than the rest. Alonzo Peele's testimony was not material. Ralph Spahr, who lives about 60 rods from the scene of the shooting, said one man could not have shot as fast as the shots sounded, that several shots were louder than the others, and were undoubtedly made by a high-powered rifle.

Was Not Fooled
Jesse Gilbert cXnia said he passed the scene in a truck, and saw the tire, and but was not fooled, because he saw the wire fastened to it, and recognized immediately that it was not a hold-up game, but a boyish prank. He did not stop. Everett LeValley, who lives on the Wilmington pike, 400 or 500 feet from the scene, did not hear any of the shots as he was asleep and was not aroused.

GROUP PLAN OF ENDING STRIKE UP TO ROADS

Success Hinges on Number of Owners Ready to Sign Statement

Washington, D. C., Sept. 13.—Over sixty-five railroads signed separate agreements at Chicago to end the shopmen's strike according to an official report to Secretary of Labor Davis, this afternoon.

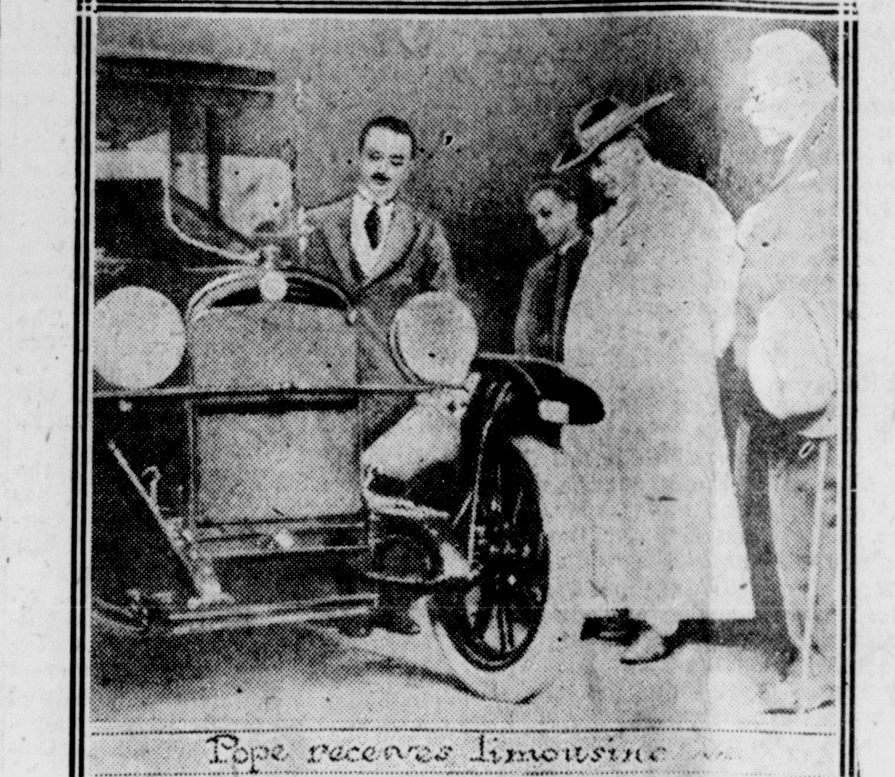

Chicago, Sept. 13.—Success of the group settlement peace plan to end the rail strike hinged today on the number of railroads ready to sign. The strong "die hard" element which yesterday opposed the partial settlement plan in the meeting of the policy committee of ninety were reported to be holding out against the proposal of B. M. Jewell, president of the striking shopcrafts federation, until assured that a larger number of railroads would sign the peace agreement.

Rumors that not more than ten or 15 railroads would actually sign the partial peace plan gave strength to the "die hard" who have adopted a "show us" attitude. They want to be convinced beyond the shadow of a doubt that, from 30 to 51 railroads standing ready to make peace before grand Jewell authorization to enter into separate negotiations.

In spite of this opposition, however, it was believed when the committee once more assembled behind closed doors in the Masonic temple building this morning that a vote would be reached during the day and that Jewell's plan would carry.

Details of the partial peace plan have been thoroughly explained and for the most part accepted, it is reported.

Adjournment of Congress At End of Month Forecast

Legislative Program Wednesday Consists of Finally Enacting Tariff and Bonus Into Law on Compromise Agreements Reached.

Washington, Sept. 13.—The bonus bill in the form agreed upon by Senate and house conferees was laid before the house today by chairman Fordney of the ways and means committee. The bill probably will be acted upon tomorrow.

Washington, Sept. 13.—Adjournment of congress by the end of September so senators and congressmen may have five weeks in which to prepare constituents for the November elections was forecast today by administration leaders.

While congressional optimists hoped to be homeward bound by Sept. 23, a threatened renewal of the tariff fight in the senate indicated the adjournment would not be reached until the following week. A presidential veto, although not expected by its Republican advocates, would also delay the congressional "get away," until an effort was made to pass the bill over the president's rejection.

The legislative program today consists of finally enacting the tariff and bonus into law on the compromise agreements reached in conferences with both tariff and bonus enroute to the White House the administration's twin coal bills, creating a coal inquiry commission and a federal coal distributor, must be completed. The rivers and harbors authorization bill now in conference must also be finally passed.

BILL FOR "FAIR PRICE" COAL IS NOW OHIO LAW

Measure Passes Legislature as Emergency Bill Effective Immediately

DAVIS GIVEN POWER

Act Provides for Fine of Not Less than $500 for Violation.

Columbus, Sept. 13.—The state legislature has passed Governor Davis' "fair price" coal bill as an emergency measure effective immediately.

The bill passed the senate early this morning by a vote of 28 to 3 after going through the house with a vote of 86 to 12.

In the house the emergency clause was adopted by a vote of 86 to 11, or one more vote than was required. The vote on the emergency clause in the senate was 26 to 3. Senator Reynolds, Cleveland, Democrat, caused the vote necessary to insure its adoption.

Legislators who voted both against the bill and the emergency clause are Senators Eubank, Buchanan, Conroy, Gifford, Lucas, King, Ferry, Rees, Bond, Belmont, Gorrell, Carroll, Hines, Tuscawawas, Hummon, Farnham, Matthews, Montgomery, Matthews, Scott, Robinson, Lawrence, Schneidmorn, Butler and Veigel, Henry.

Those opposing the emergency clause included Senators Hendon, Chynogog, Burk, Loran, Davis, Butler, Buchanan, Hummon, and Reynolds, Lucas, and not vote.

Reps. Burns, Jefferson, Hatch, Adams and Randolph, Perry, also voted against the bill.

The new law gives Governor Davis power to use or withhold action, as he sees fit. Appropriations totaling $147,000, for use of the fuel administrator in covering general expenses also were made by the state legislature.

The act provides for a fine of not less than $500 nor more than $5,000 or imprisonment in the penitentiary from one to three years, or both, to be applied to any person who sells coal in excess to a price set by the fuel administrator.

John Moore, Columbus, president of the Ohio Federation of Labor, and representing the mine workers of the state, declared that the miners union voiced no opposition to the bill. He suggested, however, an amendment, calling for equal distribution of cars in order that all mines receive equal work.

Speaking for the federation of labor, however, President Moore emphatically protested against the fair price act. He declared that the federation was against the fixing of a price on any commodity, "because such action is just one step removed from fixing wages, and the next step will be dictation as to the number of days a man shall work."

"The whole thing," he asserted, "tends to kill collective bargaining, the one thing that unions always have fought for."

PERSHING OBSERVES 62ND BIRTHDAY

Washington, Sept. 13.—General John J. Pershing celebrated his 62nd birthday today—quietly.

Four years ago today when he was 58, it was not spent so quietly. The American army had just pushed the Germans out of the St. Mihiel salient, recovering a great stretch of territory, capturing thousands of Germans—all with out serious losses to the Americans.

Canton, Sept. 13.—An unidentified man was shot and killed late last night and Louis Bloconoco, 24, is unconscious in Mercy hospital with six bullet wounds in his body, not expected to live. Bloconoco and 12-year-old Laura Bunoni, accompanied the girl's aunt to her home after a visit to the Brunoni home, and while returning two men jumped from an alley and pushed a gun against Bloconoco.

Just then one of the attackers grabbed at the gun, but missed his hold. Six shots followed and the girl ran home. Police were notified. It was while searching the neighborhood that they found the body of the dead man in the alley beside the Brunoni home. The victim had been shot several times. Police say the girl believes the dead man was the one who attempted to grab the gun when Bloconoco was shot. Officials attribute the killing and shooting to an Italian vendetta.

BULGARIA PREPARES FOR WAR AGAINST GREECE; EUROPE IN TURMOIL

Jugo Slavia Beginning to Mobilize in Fear of Another Balkan War—Russia Giving Bulgarians Support to Involve Rumania.

Conflicting advices regarding war and peace came out of Europe today. While the disarmament commission or the league of nations was accepting the plan proposed by Lord Robert Cecil of England for limitation of armies word was received that Jugo Slavia was beginning to mobilize in fear of another Balkan war.

Fighting was reported on the Bulgarian frontier in Thrace with Bulgarians, Greeks and Turkish troops involved. Russia was reported to be giving the Bulgarians support on condition that the Bulgarians go to war against Rumania. This report was

MICHIGAN'S SENIOR SENATOR NOMINATED TO SUCCEED SELF

Sen. Charles E. Townsend Leading by a Large Majority.

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 13.—Senator Charles E. Townsend, Michigan's senior Republican senator, was nominated to succeed himself in yesterday's primaries, according to unofficial figures compiled here today from almost half of the state. With 1,625 precincts out of 2,856 heard from, Townsend was leading his nearest rival, Herbert F. Baker, progressive voters league candidate by more than 18,000 and unless Baker should show unexpected strength in precincts yet to be heard from, the senator will win renomination by an estimated plurality of 25,000. Rep. Patrick Kelly, "little navy" leader in the house, and Major John Emery, former national commander of the American Legion, were running third and fourth respectively in the four cornered race, Kelly with a vote of 37,572 and Emery 30,861.

At 8 o'clock this morning Townsend headquarters predicted his renomination by 30,000. At that hour Townsend was leading Baker by a vote of 80,236 to 67,467 with 1,681 precincts out of 2,856 heard from. Kelly and Emery were trailing with 39,029 and 31,635 respectively.

Alvah H. Cummins won the Democratic nomination for governor. Thomas Read was renominated for lieutenant governor by the Republicans without opposition and Walter I. McKenzie of Detroit was the Democratic nominee, unopposed.

Woodbridge N. Ferris, former governor was not opposed for the Democratic nomination. Gov. Alex J. Groesbeck was renominated by a vote of almost two to one over Richard H. Fletcher, of Bay City. Theo. N. Joslin, of Adrian, was a poor third.

TO RAISE FUND TO FIGHT RATE CASE

Cincinnati, Sept. 13.—As a result of the conference held here Tuesday between shippers from Louisville and Cincinnati at the Chamber of Commerce the local men are to raise $10,000 to match the fund already pledged at Louisville to carry on the fight before the I. C. C. for a more equitable freight rate schedule between northern and southern points.

Shippers in this and the Kentucky city declare that the tariffs between Chicago and southern points discriminate against Cincinnati and Louisville by comparison with the rates between these two cities and the same points in the south.

Later according to postal agents and police, approximately $150,000 of the stolen securities and other valuables taken by the bandits was alleged to have been found in the home of a relative of Murphy. Murphy denied the charges and waived trial by jury.

"BATTLE OF AFFIDAVITS" IN HEARING ON STRIKE INJUNCTION CONTINUES

Government's Barrage of Sworn Statements Likely to Go On Rest of Week Before U. S. Judge

Chicago, Sept. 13.—Efforts to stop strikers have entered into a conspiracy to "restrain and destroy interstate commerce."

Only by the admission of a great number of the statements can the government hope to establish its case, for as Judge Wilkerson pointed out yesterday a conspiracy is rarely established by direct evidence. No single written or spoken word is necessary to prove it. It may be established by concerted action toward a common purpose. Just how many affidavits the government would seek to introduce into the evidence could not be learned today. When the Blackburn Esterline of the government's counsel seemingly was prepared to go on indefinitely reading out of alleged violence and intimidation in various parts of the country. Only a mere handful of affidavits were present in court today as the third day of the hearing began.

AVOID OPERATION ON MRS. HARDING AS RECOVERY SEEN

Steady Improvement in Condition of Patient is Now Felt Sure

Washington, Sept. 13.—The steady improvement in the condition of Mrs. Warren G. Harding, wife of the president, has been such as to forecast her complete recovery from the disease that carried her almost to death's door, her physicians said today.

The principal fear entertained by the doctors today was that unforeseen complications might arise to retard her steady improvement.

Whether an operation will be performed depends entirely upon developments, it was said. The departure of Drs. Mayo and Finney, the surgeons, indicated that no operation is in contemplation for the present at least. Whether an operation will be performed when Mrs. Harding's condition is better, depends a great deal on the patient herself, according to Dr. Sawyer, her personal physician.

In any event, it was emphasized today that the crisis has passed, and barring unexpected and new complications, the steady improvement of the last three days can be expected to continue.

ITALIAN VENDETTA HELD RESPONSIBLE FOR FATAL ATTACK

Unidentified Man Killed and Youth Mortally Wounded.

Canton, Sept. 13.—An unidentified man was shot and killed late last night and Louis Bloconoco, 24, is unconscious in Mercy hospital with six bullet wounds in his body, not expected to live. Bloconoco and 12-year-old Laura Bunoni, accompanied the girl's aunt to her home after a visit to the Brunoni home, and while returning two men jumped from an alley and pushed a gun against Bloconoco.

Just then one of the attackers grabbed at the gun, but missed his hold. Six shots followed and the girl ran home. Police were notified. It was while searching the neighborhood that they found the body of the dead man in the alley beside the Brunoni home. The victim had been shot several times. Police say the girl believes the dead man was the one who attempted to grab the gun when Bloconoco was shot. Officials attribute the killing and shooting to an Italian vendetta.

Three weeks ago two women and a man were brutally clubbed to death and a fourth man badly hurt in the same neighborhood. That mystery also remains unsolved.

DEVALERA SEEKING TERMS OF PEACE

Dublin, Sept. 13.—Eamonn DeValera has been in Dublin conferring with General Richard Mulcahy, commander of the free state army, on peace terms for the Irish irregulars, it was learned today. The general opinion is that a peace treaty between the free states and irregulars is improbable at this time.

EXPLOSION ROCKS SECTION IN WEST

San Bernardino, Cal., Sept. 13.—More than thirty sticks of dynamite, it was believed today, were used in bombs which exploded here near a Santa Fe railroad train late last night. The blast rocked the countryside for a mile around. Damage, however, was slight.

The violent shock was mainly felt between Colton and this city but Del Rosa, the Arrow Head Hospital and the town of Rialto also felt the force of the blast. An investigation was in progress to ascertain if rail strike sympathizers were concerned in the explosion.

MURDER MYSTERIES BAFFLE POLICE

Saw Tire On Road

Fred DeVoe, who lives five miles from Xenia on the Maple Corner road was the first witness called Wednesday morning. He said he saw the tire in the road when driving with his wife, and two children. He said his little boy got out to pick up the tire, and in doing stepped into, so that when the boys pulled it, he was dragged off his feet, and his arm hurt. He said after they had driven on a short distance, that he returned, and one of the boys said, "Fred, what's the matter." He is said to have told them their trick was a little rough, but did not at any time think there was a hold up.

Some arrangement it was hoped, would be reached today so that large batches of the 17,000 affidavits the government has gathered from all parts of the country might be introduced collectively and the reading of each separate statement eliminated. The affidavits are being introduced in an effort to substantiate the government's charge that the Former Mayor John F. Fitzgerald won the Democratic gubernatorial nomination by a plurality of more than 40,000 in a four cornered fight.

The surprise was the large vote polled by former District Attorney Joseph C. Pelletier, who in a seven cornered contest received a plurality of more than 22,000 in his fight for the office of district attorney for Suffolk county, from which he was removed. He will be opposed by District Attorney Thomas C. O'Brien, Republican, who won by a plurality of about 10,000.

LEADERS OF BOTH PARTIES SATISFIED WITH RESULTS OF SEVEN PRIMARIES

Washington, Sept. 13.—Both Republicans and Democrats in the national capital professed today to be "well satisfied" with the results of Tuesday's primaries in seven states.

The Republicans drew considerable comfort from the fact that the "regular" Republican senators up for renomination apparently have come through with safe pluralities—Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, of Massachusetts, the majority leader; Senator Charles E. Townsend, of Michigan, the good roads champion in the senate; and Senator Miles Poindexter, of Washington, chairman of the senate naval affairs committee.

Senator Lodge's victory was hailed as "impressive." Both public and private dispatches reaching Washington indicate Lodge's victory will be on a ratio of about 3 to 1.

Some Republicans had been worried over Senator Poindexter's chances but these were dissipated during the forenoon when Poindexter telegraphed his colleagues in the senate that he had been renominated by a plurality of from 20,000 to 25,000 in a field of six candidates.

In the Michigan primary Senator Townsend's victory was less impressive, and it was here that the Democrats professed to find cause for genuine rejoicing. Senator Townsend was the champion of Senator Newberry in the senate and was severely attacked for this by his Republican opponents in the primary campaign.

SUPREME COURT HEARS ARGUMENT TO PLACE BEER CLAUSE ON BALLOT

Columbus, Sept. 13.—Oral argument was presented today to the State Supreme Court during a hearing on the request of F. W. Marcolin and William Day both of Cleveland that the court compel Secretary of State Smith to place on November election ballot the proposed amendment to the state constitution authorizing manufacture and sale of 2.75 per cent beer and light wines. Attorneys Luther Day and W. U. Wilkins, Cleveland, argued in support of the request which was opposed by Attorney Wayne B. Wheeler, general counsel for the anti saloon league of America; Attorney J. A. White, superintendent of the Ohio anti saloon league and former common pleas judge David F. Pugh, Columbus.

MRS. C. L. FLATTER NAMED PRESIDENT COUNTY W. C. T. U.

Mrs. Carrie L. Flatter of Yellow Springs, was re-elected president of the Greene County W. C. T. U., making her eighteenth term in that office, during the morning session of the annual County Convention of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union, at the First M. E. Church, Wednesday.

Mrs. Mattie Smith of Spring Valley, as vice president, Miss Jennie Thomas, corresponding secretary, and Mrs. Henry Dunkle, recording secretary, were also re-elected to county offices in the organization during the session. Mrs. Mary L. Collins and Mrs. Emery Beal were appointed on the Board of Trustees of the organization.

Over two hundred delegates from over the county, with a number of visitors from Clark, Montgomery, and other surrounding counties were in attendance at the convention. Reports of secretaries of county unions and other officers showed a constant increase in membership and enthusiasm throughout the county in the last year. At present, A. C. Tupper Union, of this city, and the Yellow Springs Union are tied for membership honors, and are still in the contest.

The morning session closed with dinner at twelve o'clock, the principal feature of the afternoon program being an address by Miss Mary J. Campbell of India.

PRESENT MONEY GIFT TO MOTHER OF BOYS WHO WERE SHOT

"I didn't know we had so many friends," said Mrs. Logan Nichols, Wilmington pike, mother of Volney Nichols, 18, who was killed and Dorsey Nichols, 16, who was severely hurt when the boys were fired upon by a sheriff's posse September 5, when she was presented with a sum collected for the family in this city. V. P. Harness, who started the fund and put out three papers for the signatures and subscriptions of sympathetic people, made the presentation speech to Mrs. Nichols Wednesday afternoon and gave her the sum of $161. The money was collected mostly in the Harness billiard hall, the Johnson barber shop and the Coates barber shop, for the "bereaved family."

Mrs. Nichols cried when she accepted the gift from Mr. Harness and Cleophas Mason, of Piquetteville, who accompanied him. "The people have been mighty good to us," she said. "I don't know we're ever going to be able to pay them back."

CARD OF THANKS
We extend our heartfelt thanks to all our neighbors and friends for their kindness and sympathy at the time of the tragic death of our son and brother, Volney Nichols, for the profusion of beautiful floral offerings, and the many acts of kindness which brought us help and comfort. We wish to especially thank Rev. E. W. Middleton, who conducted the funeral service, and J. H. Whitmer for their services. Mr. and Mrs. Logan Nichols and Family.

MISERY NOT SEEN IN GERMANY SAYS LOCAL MAN ON RETURN

After a tour of four months and a half through the continent of Europe and the British Isles, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Binder arrived in this city, Tuesday.

Both are enthusiastic over the foreign countries and like other tourists give a different version of the post-war conditions throughout the land. While Switzerland outstrips any other country in the world for beauty and scenery, the choice city and country for outstanding characteristics, in the opinion of Mr. Binder, are Berlin and Germany.

The pitiful conditions one meets throughout Belgium are not seen in Berlin and other German cities, where the better class has maintained its standard of living and the country has retained its beauty.

According to Mr. Binder, different tourists through Europe gain different impressions of the country, and the stories they tell of the existing conditions often contradict others according to the class of the people the Americans come in contact with. The middle class of the country, the class by whom any country may be judged, Mr. Binder says, few tourists meet, and while on their trip through Berlin and Germany, they met several families considered in this class, who had only one loaf of rye bread each day to eat, illustrating the fact that the country is not as prosperous as some stories lead Americans to believe.

While touring Germany and the Rhineland, Mr. and Mrs. Binder met Perry Swindler, former Xenian, who is seeing service with the Army of Occupation at Coblenz, for the past three years and had enlisted for the next three years.

Mr. and Mrs. Binder, who were accompanied on part of their trip by Mr. and Mrs. Charles Carroll of this city, toured Italy, Switzerland, France, Germany, England and Ireland. While in Rome the party was fortunate in securing an audience with the Pope.

The warlike conditions in Ireland's pitiful from the viewpoint of Mr. Binder, who says the ignorance of the fighting forces is largely responsible for the existing conditions, the people not knowing what they are really fighting for. The assassination of Michael Collins took place during Mr. and Mrs. Binder's visit in Ireland, and they attended the funeral of the Irish hero.

Belgium that received the brunt of the terrors of the war is making strides, according to Mr. Binder in rehabilitation about a thousand homes being constructed throughout the country since the war for refugees.

FINED IN POLICE COURT.

John Schmaltz, employed by the Lindner Bros. Milk Co., of Dayton, appeared in Police Court Wednesday morning and was given a fine of $5.00 and costs on a charge of disorderly conduct filed against him by the Murley Milk Co., of this city. Employees of the Lindner Co., and the Hurley Co., got into an altercation over some milk bottles and Schmaltz carried the argument to the point where the charge of disorderly conduct was filed against him.

JOYFUL FAMILY REUNION

"Two of my brothers, a sister, as well as myself have been chronic sufferers from gas in stomach, indigestion, pain in right side near appendix and liver trouble for many years. My sister tried Mayr's Wonderful Remedy with such good results that we all took a course of it and it helped in each case. Last Sunday we had a family reunion in celebration of our recovery and what we all did eat." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded.

LEADERS OF BOTH PARTIES SATISFIED WITH RESULTS OF SEVEN PRIMARIES

Washington, Sept. 13.—Both Republicans and Democrats in the national capital professed today to be "well satisfied" with the results of Tuesday's primaries in seven states.

The Republicans drew considerable comfort from the fact that the "regular" Republican senators up for renomination apparently have come through with safe pluralities—Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, of Massachusetts, the majority leader; Senator Charles E. Townsend, of Michigan, the good roads champion in the senate; and Senator Miles Poindexter, of Washington, chairman of the senate naval affairs committee.

Senator Lodge's victory was hailed as "impressive." Both public and private dispatches reaching Washington indicate Lodge's victory will be on a ratio of about 3 to 1.

Some Republicans had been worried over Senator Poindexter's chances but these were dissipated during the forenoon when Poindexter telegraphed his colleagues in the senate that he had been renominated by a plurality of from 20,000 to 25,000 in a field of six candidates.

In the Michigan primary Senator Townsend's victory was less impressive, and it was here that the Democrats professed to find cause for genuine rejoicing. Senator Townsend was the champion of Senator Newberry in the senate and was severely attacked for this by his Republican opponents in the primary campaign.

SUPREME COURT HEARS ARGUMENT TO PLACE BEER CLAUSE ON BALLOT

Columbus, Sept. 13.—Oral argument was presented today to the State Supreme Court during a hearing on the request of F. W. Marcolin and William Day both of Cleveland that the court compel Secretary of State Smith to place on November election ballot the proposed amendment to the state constitution authorizing manufacture and sale of 2.75 per cent beer and light wines. Attorneys Luther Day and W. U. Wilkins, Cleveland, argued in support of the request which was opposed by Attorney Wayne B. Wheeler, general counsel for the anti saloon league of America; Attorney J. A. White, superintendent of the Ohio anti saloon league and former Common Pleas Judge David F. Pugh, Columbus.

MRS. C. L. FLATTER NAMED PRESIDENT COUNTY W. C. T. U.

Mrs. Carrie L. Flatter, of Yellow Springs, was re-elected president of the Greene County W. C. T. U., making her eighteenth term in that office, during the morning session of the annual County Convention of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union, at the First M. E. Church, Wednesday.

Mrs. Mattie Smith of Spring Valley, as vice president, Miss Jennie Thomas, corresponding secretary, and Mrs. Henry Dunkle, recording secretary, were also re-elected to county offices in the organization during the session. Mrs. Mary L. Collins and Mrs. Emory Beal were appointed on the Board of Trustees of the organization.

Over two hundred delegates from over the county, with a number of visitors from Clark, Montgomery, and other surrounding counties were in attendance at the convention. Reports of secretaries of county unions and other officers showed a constant increase in membership and enthusiasm throughout the county in the last year. At present, A. C. Turrell Union, of this city, and the Yellow Springs Union are tied for membership honors and are still in the contest.

The morning session closed with dinner at twelve o'clock, the principal feature of the afternoon program being an address by Miss Mary J. Campbell of India.

PRESENT MONEY GIFT TO MOTHER OF BOYS WHO WERE SHOT

"I didn't know we had so many friends," said Mrs. Logan Nichols, Wilmington pike, mother of Volney Nichols, 18, who was killed and Dorsey Nichols, 16, who was severely hurt when the boys were fired upon by a sheriff's posse September 5, when she was presented with a sum collected for the family in this city.

V. P. Harness, who started the fund and put out three papers for the signatures and subscriptions of sympathetic people, made the presentation speech to Mrs. Nichols Wednesday afternoon and gave her the sum of $161. The money was collected mostly in the Harness billiard hall, the Johnson barber shop and the Coates barber shop, for the "bereaved family."

Mrs. Nichols cried when she accepted the gift from Mr. Harness and Cleophas Mason, of Piquetteville, who accompanied him. "The people have been mighty good to us," she said. "I don't know we're ever going to be able to pay them back."

CARD OF THANKS

We extend our heartfelt thanks to all our neighbors and friends for their kindness and sympathy at the time of the tragic death of our son and brother, Volney Nichols, for the profusion of beautiful floral offerings, and the many acts of kindness which brought us help and comfort. We wish to especially thank Rev. E. W. Middleton, who conducted the funeral service, and J. H. Whitmer for their services.

Mr. and Mrs. Logan Nichols and Family.

MISERY NOT SEEN IN GERMANY SAYS LOCAL MAN ON RETURN

After a tour of four months and a half through the continent of Europe and the British Isles, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Binder arrived in this city, Tuesday.

Both are enthusiastic over the foreign countries and like other tourists give a different version of the post-war conditions throughout the land. While Switzerland outstrips any other country in the world for beauty and scenery, the choice city and country for outstanding characteristics, in the opinion of Mr. Binder, are Berlin and Germany.

The pitiful conditions one meets throughout Belgium are not seen in Berlin and other German cities, where the better class has maintained its standard of living and the country has retained its beauty.

According to Mr. Binder, different tourists through Europe gain different impressions of the country, and the stories they tell of the existing conditions often contradict others according to the class of the people the Americans come in contact with. The middle class of the country, the class by whom any country may be judged, Mr. Binder says, few tourists meet, and while on their trip through Berlin and Germany, they met several families considered in this class, who had only one loaf of rye bread each day to eat, illustrating the fact that the country is not as prosperous as some stories lead Americans to believe.

While touring Germany and the Rhineland, Mr. and Mrs. Binder met Perry Swindler, former Xenian, who is seeing service with the Army of Occupation at Coblenz, for the past three years and had enlisted for the next three years.

Mr. and Mrs. Binder, who were accompanied on part of their trip by Mr. and Mrs. Charles Carroll of this city, toured Italy, Switzerland, France, Germany, England and Ireland. While in Rome the party was fortunate in securing an audience with the Pope.

The warlike conditions in Ireland is pitiful, from the viewpoint, of Mr. Binder, who says the ignorance of the fighting forces is largely responsible for the existing conditions, the people not knowing what they are really fighting for. The assassination of Michael Collins took place during Mr. and Mrs. Binder's visit in Ireland, and they attended the funeral of the Irish hero.

Belgium that received the brunt of the terrors of the war is making strides, according to Mr. Binder in rehabilitation about a thousand homes being constructed throughout the country since the war for refugees.

GREETINGS TO ANOTHER AMERICAN REPUBLIC A HUNDRED YEARS OLD.

The opening of the Brazilian Centennial Exposition on September 7, the one hundredth anniversary of Brazil's declaration of independence from Portuguese rule, is the biggest thing of the sort ever attempted in South America and will rank with other world expositions of the past in magnitude and variety of the displays, with most of the European countries and many other states represented.

Our Congress appropriated $1,000,000 for the expenses of the American participation and $300,000 of this was expended on the official United States building, at Rio de Janeiro, which is of permanent construction and will house the American Embassy after the exposition is over. Other governments followed the example of the United States in this respect and the exposition's Avenue of Nations will remain in large part to add beauty to the Brazilian capital. A statue typifying liberty and friendship, with the American and Brazilian flags crossed, will be presented as the gift of the American people during the exposition. It will be sixty-five feet high with pedestal, and is the work of Charles Keck.

The exposition is designed to show Brazil's economic and social progress in the last century and will remain open until March 31, 1923.

To most Americans Brazil is merely a jungle state in South America, few realizing its immensity, wealth and possibilities.

Brazil is as large as the whole of Europe. It occupies considerably more than half the South American continent. Its area is equal to that of the United States with half of Alaska added. The country was settled by the Portuguese, who retained possession until 1822.

Brazil produces three-fourths of the world's coffee supply and the greater part of its rubber. Were Brazil peopled to the density of Belgium it would contain more than the inhabitants of the entire earth.

Brazil is a highland country, more than three-fourths of her territory having an altitude of more than 500 feet. Politically, Brazil is divided into twenty-one states, with a government modeled closely after that of the United States.

Brazil is the only country named for a tree. It was originally called the country of Brazilwood, which later was shortened to Brazil. As the seasons in South America are the reverse of those in North America, the hottest months of the year in Brazil are December and January.

Rio de Janeiro, capital of Brazil and the second largest city south of the Equator, has been proclaimed one of the most beautiful cities in the world.

The city has several of the most beautiful boulevards in the world, together with magnificent public buildings, a municipal theater, fine arts museum and wonderful botanic gardens.

THEY ARE NOT ALIENS.

The special Grand Jury investigating the Herrin massacre in the Illinois county that has earned the name of "Bloody Williamson" has indicted thirty-nine men for murder. Of these thirty-nine, all save three have Anglo-Saxon, Celtic or Nordic names.

These are names that may be found in almost any township of Southern Illinois, where the old racial stocks settled after crossing the Ohio and Wabash. There are names among them that were worn over the Blue Ridge and through Cumberland Gap.

They are more reminiscent of hill feud and mountain vendetta than they are of the Mafia, Camorra, the I. W. W., the "Black Hand," or the Red Commune. The Old America must take the blame for what has thus far been found at Herrin. The swarthy South Europe man swarms in "Egypt's" mining towns. He may have bulked large in the mob that wrecked the mine and poured through the woods, hanging, shooting, clubbing and mutilating, but he was not in the forefront of the killing that day.

The stigma of Herrin must be shifted from the alien to the native-born and the older blood of America. The killers may be ignorant and illiterate folk, they may belong to the native riff-raff of the coal fields of Williamson and Franklin, but their names belie them if they are aliens.

SWEDEN ALMOST SUCCESSFUL.

Sweden has been voting on the matter of national prohibition of the liquor traffic, and the decision would have been on the side of prohibition had it not been for the vote in the one city of Stockholm. While in several of the larger cities the vote was adverse, the sensible, conscientious, conservative people of the nation would have succeeded in overcoming the vote of all of the large cities except this one, and, even at this, the vote was so close that there is hope of success in the future. It is another exemplification of the fact that large cities are the plague-spots of civilization. We have instances of this in our own country, in the struggle for prohibition, as when the vote in Cincinnati was sufficient to override the temperance vote of all the great state of Ohio, being compacted on the wrong side. So we can sympathize with the righteous and sensible people of Sweden, and would encourage them to try again, and again if need be, in order to succeed.

DO YOU KNOW?

Approximately 610,000 coal miners are on strike at the present time in the nation's bituminous and anthracite fields, while 185,000 still remain at work.

Because of the increased number of telephones in Tokyo the Japanese Government is making attractive offers to its girls to take up the study of operating.

Judge L. S. Pardee, of Akron, Ohio, having established a clubhouse for newsboys, now plans to have every newsboy in his town clothed in a uniform of summer weight.

Five co-operative labor banks are about to be organized in the United States, similar to the Amalgamated Clothing Works Bank in Chicago, which is capitalized at $300,000.

The first foot ball game to be played by the Central High School team will probably be with Antioch, Sept. 27. The team this year will be a strong one and all the games will be interesting.

Our town was almost left without a corporal's guard on Thursday, the Montgomery County Fair being the cause.

There has been quite a white frost for the past two nights and the hay fever sufferers are gloating over the fact. The present cool spell recalls the fact that last year at this time the public schools were closed on account of the heat.

Mr. Frank L. Smith, the Gazette local news man, is taking his vacation this week and will be out of town most of the time.

TREATING A CORN

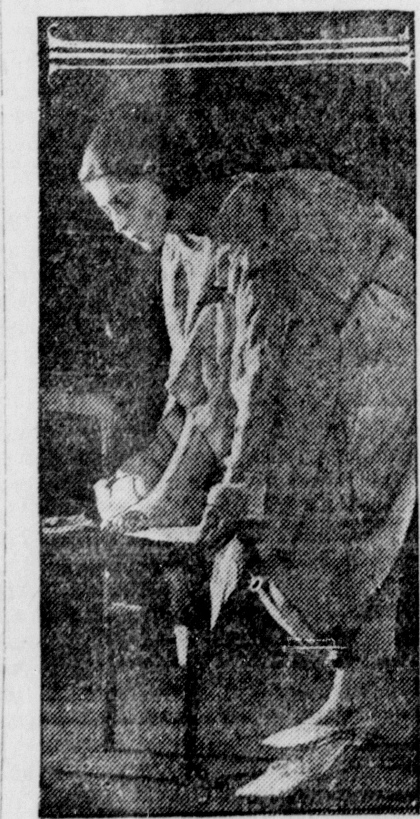

In a recent letter I was asked if I did not think that corns are natural to some people. The writer stated that she had been troubled with corns ever since she could remember, and her own children, at the age of seven and nine, each had one. My reply was to the effect that the entire blame for all their misery must be placed upon bad choice of shoes, since corns are the result of pressure and friction. The correct shoe is one that will allow the large toe to lie straight, in the same manner as it does when you stand barefooted upon the floor. There should be ample room for all the other toes to move easily. This does not mean the shoe should be so large as to allow any slipping of the foot.

The best shoe that I know of is that with the moderately round toe, snug and perfect in fit around the heel and ankle, while the heel itself is broad and about an inch, or very little more in height. Such a shoe allows for perfect circulation which is the basis for perfect health in the feet as with the whole system.

However, if you have corns begin by changing the style of your shoes, thus relieving the pressure. And this is the only way to get rid of them permanently. As corns are only callous spots made up of dead particles of skin, they are easily removed. To do this, soak the feet in warm, soapy water for 15 minutes, dry thoroughly and moisten the corn with spirits of ammonia, which will soften the hard skin. Cut off some of the corn without hurting or drawing any blood, or use the antiseptic corn file which can be bought at the drug store or from any chiropodist.

Never continue either the peeling or filing to the point of soreness, as it is better to remove the corn gradually, following until all of it is gone. An each day until all of it is gone. An antiseptic salve, such as carbolated vaseline should be rubbed into the corn after each treatment. The foot should then be bound up with absorb-bent cotton. The soft corn, while having a callous surface is soft underneath and very sensitive. Such a corn should first be poulticed to remove the soreness before there is any attempt to remove it.

Having gotten rid of the corns and chosen a shoe of perfect cut (which will be the sort I have described) keep the foot healthy by giving the blood a chance to circulate without undue pressure upon any part of it and there will be no future trouble.

TARIFF MEASURE RETURNS TO HOUSE

Washington, Sept. 13.—The new Republican tariff bill, designed to raise $350,000,000 annually, was returned to house yesterday for final action following adoption of compromise agreements, between senate and house conferees on some 2,000 conflicting rates.

Administration leaders hope to rush the completed bill through both houses and to get it in President Harding's hands before the end of the month.

The new tariff will be levied on the foreign valuation plan House leaders, who held out for the American valuation basis, were defeated and all rates, with the exception of the chemical and dye schedules, will be collected against the foreign value of the imported article.

THE OLD WAY.

My Aunt Samantha's making pickles, each day she puts up more and more; and this will save me many nickles when I go shopping at the store. "It may be I shall miss a party, a tea fight or a bridge whist game," says aunt, "but while I'm well and hearty I'll put up pickles just the same. And you might trot around and fetch up tomatoes from the weighed vine, for I will put up jugs of ketchup before I've taken in my sign. And there are plums that need preserving, and onions good for marmalade; the thought is surely most unnerving, that they should waste and be decayed." My neighbors call up Jones the grocer for every-thing they wish to eat; but Aunt Samantha thunders, "No, sir!" when I suggest a canned goods treat. "It would be sin beyond all pardon," she says, "to buy things at the store, when there are turnips in the garden, and pumpkins by the kitchen door." And to the cellar she is packing all sorts of bottles, jars and jugs while through the garden I go tracking for greens that have escaped the bugs. Her friends are frolicking and fooling, they're bathing in the deep blue sea, their dark green limousines they're tooling, at country clubs they're drinking tea. My aunt looks smiling from the casement on passing roadster and sedan; she does not care for her effacement while there's a cucumber to can.

Today's Talk

by George Matthew Adams

The Cricket's Chirr
The blanket of night has just been folded about a tired earth. The wind has died down. A soft silent rain has ceased. Only drippings from the roof, and from overburdened leaves are heard as they fall to the ground below.
All seems so still without. Only the distant rumble of passing trains breaks the perfect peace of the night.
We have been writing and reading. Everyone else in the house has long ago felt the touch of slumber.
We lay our book on the little shelf beside our reading chair. We push our typewriter back. We listen. The only answering voice in all this silence, mystery and darkness is that of the cricket in its—chirr, chirr, chirr, chirr, chirr!
How very silent and lonely it would be tonight without the call of these little fellows of the night.
It's the cricket's way of telling how happy it is!
Something like the purr of the house cat, or the wag of a dog's tail, or the knowing smile of a human being.
How full this world is, anyway, of all sorts of evidences of happiness, contentment, and peace.
And there is no one so poor, or bereft of sentiment but that he is able to gather from some quarter at almost any moment of the day or night, some such kinship as the cricket's chirr, the call of a bird or the twinkle of a star.
For we are all creatures of emotion. Sentiment builds the best that we are, deep within us.
The infinite God understood the creature of His handiwork when he made you and me and put us here in our setting.
We are much happier tonight because outside our window as we fall into forgetfulness of the day and its problems, its irritations, and griefs, we shall remember last the chirr—chirr—chirr of the tiny singers of the wood.

SOME OF THOSE BIG TRUCK DRIVERS HAVE NO MANNERS AT ALL

1902--Twenty Years Ago--1922

The first foot ball game to be played by the Central High School team will probably be with Antioch, Sept. 27. The team this year will be a strong one and all the games will be interesting.

Our town was almost left without a corporal's guard on Thursday, the Montgomery County Fair being the cause.

There has been quite a white frost for the past two nights and the hay fever sufferers are gloating over the fact. The present cool spell recalls the fact that last year at this time the public schools were closed on account of the heat.

Mr. Frank L. Smith, the Gazette local news man, is taking his vacation this week and will be out of town most of the time.

TREATING A CORN

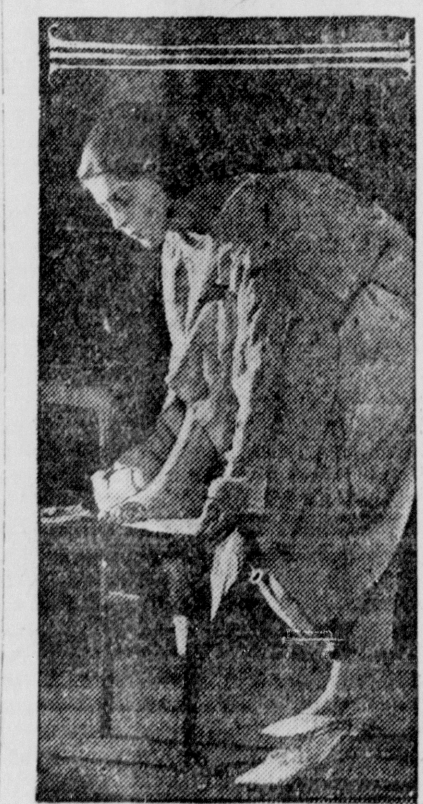

In a recent letter I was asked if I did not think that corns are natural to some people. The writer stated that she had been troubled with corns ever since she could remember, and her own children, at the age of seven and nine, each had one. My reply was to the effect that the entire blame for all their misery must be placed upon bad choice of shoes, since corns are the result of pressure and friction. The correct shoe is one that will allow the large toe to lie straight, in the same manner as it does when you stand barefooted upon the floor. There should be ample room for all the other toes to move easily. This does not mean the shoe should be so large as to allow any slipping of the foot.

The best shoe that I know of is, that with the moderately round toe, snug and perfect in fit around the heel and ankle, while the heel itself is broad and about an inch, or very little more in height. Such a shoe allows for perfect circulation which is the basis for perfect health in the feet as with the whole system.

However, if you have corns begin by changing the style of your shoes, thus relieving the pressure. And this is the only way to get rid of them permanently. As corns are only callous spots made up of dead particles of skin, they are easily removed. To do this, soak the feet in warm, soapy water for 15 minutes, dry thoroughly and moisten the corn with spirits of ammonia, which will soften the hard skin. Cut off some of the corn without hurting or drawing any blood, or use the antiseptic corn file which can be bought at the drug store or from any chiropodist.

Never continue either the peeling or filing to the point of soreness, as it is better to remove the corn gradually, following until all of it is gone. An each day until all of it is gone. An antiseptic salve, such as carbolated vasoline should be rubbed into the corn after each treatment. The foot should then be bound up with absorb-

bent cotton. The soft corn, while having a callous surface is soft underneath and very sensitive. Such a corn should first be poulticed to remove the soreness before there is any attempt to remove it.

Having gotten rid of the corns and chosen a shoe of perfect cut (which will be the best I have described) keep the foot healthy by giving the blood a chance to circulate without undue pressure upon any part of it and there will be no future trouble.

Nellie—If you have any tendency to grow hair on the face it is best not to use any cream without knowing exactly what it contains. This is no reflection upon the cream you are using as it may not be the cause of your trouble at all. If you do not mind the trouble of making a cream, I should be glad to mail you the formula for one that you may be quite sure will not cause hair to grow.

TARIFF MEASURE RETURNS TO HOUSE

Washington, Sept. 13.—The new Republican tariff bill, designed to raise $350,000,000 annually, was returned to house yesterday for final action following adoption of compromise agreements, between senate and house conferees on some 2,000 conflicting rates.

Administration leaders hope to rush the completed bill through both houses and to get it in President Harding's hands before the end of the month.

The new tariff will be levied on the foreign valuation plan House leaders, who held out for the American valuation basis, were defeated and all rates, with the exception of the chemical and dye schedules, will be collected against the foreign value of the imported article.

THE OLD WAY.
My Aunt Samantha's making pickles, each day she puts up more and more; and this will save me many nickles when I go shopping at the store. "It may be I shall miss a party, a tea fight or a bridge whist game," says aunt, "but while I'm well and hearty I'll put up pickles just the same. And you might trot around and fetch up tomatoes from the weighed vine, for I will put up jugs of ketchup before I've taken in my sign. And there are plums that need preserving, and onions good for marmalade; the thought is surely most unerring, that they should waste and be decayed." My neighbors call up Jones the grocer for everything they wish to eat; but Aunt Samantha thunders, "No, sir!" when I suggest a canned goods treat. "It would be sin beyond all pardon," she says, "to buy things at the store, when there are turnips in the garden, and pumpkins by the kitchen door." And to the cellar she is packing all sorts of bottles, jars and jugs, while through the garden I go tracking for greens that have escaped the bugs. Her friends are frolicking and fooling, they're bathing in the deep blue sea, their dark green limousines they're tooling, at country clubs they're drinking tea. My aunt looks smiling from the casement on passing roadster and sedan; she does not care for her effacement while there's a cucumber to can.

Today's Talk

by George Matthew Adams

The Cricket's Chirp
The blanket of night has just been folded about a tired earth. The wind has died down. A soft silent rain has ceased. Only drippings from the roof and from overburdened leaves are heard as they fall to the ground below.

All seems so still without. Only the distant rumble of passing trains breaks the perfect peace of the night.

We have been writing and reading. Everyone else in the house has long ago felt the touch of slumber.

We lay our book on the little shelf beside our reading chair. We push our typewriter back. We listen. The only answering voice in all this silence, mystery and darkness is that of the cricket in its—chirp, chirp, chirp, chirp, chirp!

How very silent and lonely it would be tonight without the call of these little fellows of the night.

It's the cricket's way of telling how happy it is!

Something like the purr of the house cat, or the wag of a dog's tail, or the knowing smile of a human being.

How full this world is, anyway, of all sorts of evidences of happiness, contentment, and peace.

And there is no one so poor, or bereft of sentiment but that he is able to gather from some quarter at almost any moment of the day or night, some such kinship as the cricket's chirp, the call of a bird or the twinkle of a star.

For we are all creatures of emotion. Sentiment builds the best that we are, deep within us.

The Infinite God understood the creature of His handiwork when He made you and me and put us here in our setting.

We are much happier tonight because outside our window as we fall into forgetfulness of the day and its problems, its irritations, and griefs, we shall remember last the chirp-chirp of the tiny singers of the wood.

ABANDON PLAN TO USE SPRING HILL SCHOOL FOR WORK

The proposed Spring Hill Opportunity School, planned by Superintendent of Schools C. A. Waltz, and members of the Xenia City School Board, has been abandoned, and the pupils of the school distributed among the grades of the city schools and the Parish House, according to a statement issued by Superintendent Waltz, Wednesday.

The final action of the School authorities, the reason for which Supt. Waltz sets forth in his statement was brought about by the opposition of the residents of Spring Hill, who were actively opposed to the school's locating at the Spring Hill building, a meeting of committees of residents and school patrons, with members of the school board, brought about the abandonment of the plan this week.

Waltz's statement on the final action follows: "The Central Opportunity School opened this morning. The regular school work will be done at the Episcopal Parish House while the industrial work will be taken care of in new and enlarged quarters elsewhere within a few days."

"The Spring Hill Opportunity School has been discontinued. This has been made necessary for two reasons. First, the Board of Education is financially unable to maintain two schools of this kind and second neither Mrs. McEwan nor Miss McGowan could be induced to take the hilltop school because of the attitude of the people there. Furthermore the superintendent had promised that they might work together because the type of work done by the one supplements the other."

"The thirty-five Spring Hill Opportunity School Children have been distributed as well as possible throughout the regular grades of this school. The Central Opportunity School enrollment is 37 pupils."

"The industrial work of the Opportunity school will be greatly enlarged this year according to Mrs. McEwan, head of the school. In addition to the carpet and rug weaving, toy making and basketry which was carried on last year, brush making, chair caning and stocking knitting will be introduced this year. An order for one thousand seed baskets is already in the hands of the teacher."

"The regular school work and the industrial work will be carried on in separate buildings this year. This will be a decided improvement over the plan followed last year."

The After Effects Of Diphtheria Were Paralysis.

Wednesday Health Talk No. 36.
By G. C. DONOHOO, D. C.

Diphtheria in itself is very dangerous but when its victim is bedfast for a long period, there may be as a further result of the weakness and relaxation, some spinal displacements resulting in after effects as bad as the disease. In one such case the victim became practically paralyzed after the disease had been cleared from her system.

When there is displacement of spinal joints, there is a narrowing of the spinal nerve opening which comes between all joints of the spine, and a pressure of the spinal bone on soft spinal nerve tissue which results in interference with the transmission of mental impulses. When this pressure is severe it results in paralysis. When it is only slight, the result is weakness and disease. Chiropractic spinal adjustments restore the alignment of spinal joints and remove the nerve pressure which is the cause of disease.

PARALYSIS AFTER DIPHTHERIA OVERCOME

"We are the parents of Miss Leota Rhoades. From August 8 to mid-October we were quarantined for diphtheria. In this period our daughter was given 30,000 units of anti-toxin and after getting up was apparently all right for a time and then she began losing her strength and use of herself until she was completely paralyzed. The physician said she would be that way for life. The chiropractor gave her fifteen adjustments and she began to walk a step or two at a time. She continued for a long time and now she is able to walk and work about the house and is doing fine in every way."—MR. AND MRS. H. A. RHOADES, Chiropractic Research Bureau, Statement No. 1335W.

GUNMEN WOUNDED BY OWN WEAPON

Toledo, Sept. 13.—Two gunmen are dying in a local hospital today from bullet wounds inflicted by Joseph Wagner, 32, who snatched a gun from one of the men when he went to the rescue of F. C. Jones, a neighbor, early this morning. Wagner was awakened by Jones' cry for help from an adjoining apartment. Rushing to the room, he found two robbers in the act of ransacking a bureau. Grabbing a gun from the hands of one of the bandits, Wagner commenced shooting.

Boils are unnatural and offensive! Don't take a chance that all your blood impurities will force their way through the skin. Take S. S. S. and watch your skin clear up and your blood made rich and pure. The power of S. S. S. is an acknowledged fact. Right off, it clears the skin of boils, pimples, blotches, acne, eczema, rash and other skin eruptions—and does it thoroughly.

Mr. V. D. Schaff, 557 15th St., Washington, D. C., writes: "I tried for years to get relief from a bad case of boils. Everything failed until I took S. S. S. I am now absolutely cured, and it was S. S. S. that did it."

The After Effects Of Diphtheria Were Paralysis.

Wednesday Health Talk No. 36.
By G. C. DONOHOO, D. C.

Diphtheria in itself is very dangerous but when its victim is bedfast for a long period, there may be as a further result of the weakness and relaxation, some spinal displacements resulting in after effects as bad as the disease. In one such case the victim became practically paralyzed after the disease had been cleared from her system.

When there is displacement of spinal joints, there is a narrowing of the spinal nerve opening which comes between all joints of the spine, and a pressure of the spinal bone on soft spinal nerve tissue which results in interference with the transmission of mental impulses. When this pressure is severe it results in paralysis. When it is only slight, the result is weakness and disease. Chiropractic spinal adjustments restore the alignment of spinal joints and remove the nerve pressure which is the cause of disease.

PARALYSIS AFTER DIPHTHERIA OVERCOME

"We are, the parents of Miss Leota Rhoades, from August 8 to mid-October we were quarantined for diphtheria. In this period our daughter was given 30,000 units of anti-toxin and after getting up was apparently all right for a time and then she began losing her strength and use of herself until she was completely paralyzed. The physician said she would be that way for life. The chiropractor gave her fifteen adjustments and she began to walk a step or two at a time. She continued for a long time and now she is able to walk and work about the house and is doing fine in every way."—MR. AND MRS. H. A. RHOADES, Chiropractic Research Bureau, Statement No. 1338W.

Muffin color is the new shade which the autumn sports blouse is inclined to favor. Both the attractive crepe de chine blouses illustrated in the accompanying sketch, the tuck-in model at the top and the overblouse, are made in this delightfully soft color. The third model, with the frill that harks back to older fashions is of satin striped sport silk, in white.

Embroidered white crepe de chine casques are again very much in demand this season. They are made straight of line and rather scant about the hips, with string belt, and are either embroidered all over in silk, beads or with French knots and eyelet work. A blouse of this type is a useful investment for it may be worn in the afternoon with a separate silk skirt or with the three-piece suit.

MYSTERY SURROUNDS SHOOTING AT TRAIN

Holland, Mich., Sept. 13 Mystery surrounds the firing on the Grand Rapids and Indiana train southbound from Grand Rapids near here Monday night. The train sped through a hail of bullets as it neared the town, members of the crew and passengers said. No one was hurt, although several passengers had narrow escapes.

PRINCE TELLS NEED OF PEOPLE IN AFRICA

Taking himself as a living example of the truth of his statements, Prince Bullawa Citawayo, tribal chieftan of South Africa, addressed a large audience at the Third Baptist Church, Tuesday night on "The Possibilities of Educating and Christianizing Africa." The Prince cited his own case, in bearing upon the need of education in far Africa. When he was a man of twenty-eight he was ignorant and illiterate. He is now a scholar, a divine, a missionary, a physician, linguist and orator and writes eight different languages and speaks fourteen languages fluently.

"What we need in Africa to become civilized and educated is the cooperation of the people of America, and we must have it to succeed," was the statement of Prince Bullawa during his address.

Following the address the Prince, with President Gregg of Wilberforce University and an African boy from Besotland, who is studying at Wilberforce, sang a song in the African dialect, Prince Bullawa later singing a Zulu song.

Prince Bullawa will appear at the Christian Church, Wednesday evening, and at the Cedarville Baptist Church Friday evening. He will also make an address at the Presbyterian Church in this city before leaving.

EXPECT ELECTIONS TO GIVE INSIGHT INTO SITUATION

Washington, Sept. 13.—The most accurate insight into the political temper of the country that it is possible to obtain prior to the elections in November is expected to be provided by yesterday's primaries in widely separated sections of country—in Massachusetts, Michigan, Washington, Arizona, Vermont, Colorado and Louisiana. It is the greatest political field day before November.

Voters in the far west, in New England, in the middle west and in the southwest are going to the polls to nominate candidates in contests that offer a veritable potpourri. Everything from prohibition to taxation and tariff and international issues are involved in today's contests in seven states, according to party managers in the national capital and the results will afford an interesting cross-country view of things in general.

"I knew him when he was a boy"

What one is there of us that has not felt the glow of satisfaction over the outstanding success of a life-long friend? Often a surprise—seemingly "all of a sudden." Yet neither surprising nor sudden, when you stop to think back over each step of his progress.

THE United States Rubber Company—makers of U. S. Royal Cord Tires—were first to conceive, make and announce the balanced tire. A tire in which there is such complete unity of action in tread and carcass that neither will give way before the other.

First to conceive, make and announce a complete line of tires—a tire for every need of price and use under one standard of quality.

First to tell the public about the good and bad in tire-retailing. (You remember the phrase "Go to a legitimate dealer and get a legitimate tire.")

First also to arouse industrial and trade minds to the need of a new kind of tire competition. (Competition for better and better values. Greater and greater public confidence.)

THESE high spots along the U. S. Road to leadership indicate the intent—the will to win by the quality route in a price market.

Now that so many car-owners have given their verdict for quality tires in general, and U. S. Tires in particular—a number of dealers and car-owners whose vision has been clouded by "discounts," "sales" and what not, are beginning to remember that they "knew him when he was a boy."

"I knew him when he was a boy"

What one is there of us that has not felt the glow of satisfaction over the outstanding success of a life-long friend! Often a surprise—seemingly "all of a sudden." Yet neither surprising nor sudden, when you stop to think back over each step of his progress.

THE United States Rubber Company—makers of U. S. Royal Cord—were first to conceive, make and announce the balanced tire. A tire in which there is such complete unity of action in tread and carcass that neither will give way before the other.

First to conceive, make and announce a complete line of tires—a tire for every need of price and use under one standard of quality.

First to tell the public about the good and bad in tire-retailing. (You remember the phrase "Go to a legitimate dealer and get a legitimate tire.")

First also to arouse industrial and trade minds to the need of a new kind of tire competition. (Competition for better and better values. Greater and greater public confidence.)

THESE high spots along the U. S. road to leadership indicate the intent—the will to win by the quality route in a price market.

Now that so many car-owners have given their verdict for quality tires in general, and U. S. Tires in particular—a number of dealers and car-owners whose vision has been clouded by "discounts," "sales" and what not, are beginning to remember that they "knew him when he was a boy."

PASSENGER TRAIN DERAILED

Washington, Sept. 13.--Melicious destruction of a section of track by means of a high explosive caused the derailment of a passenger train on the International railway near Elwood, N. EMPTIES SHOTGUN AT MEN WHO SEEK TO ROB HIS HOME

Emptying his shotgun at four burglars who ransacked his home on the old Patterson farm on the Hook road Sunday night, Walter R. Hansell, who was shot at by the robbers, is confident he wounded one of the men, all of whom made their escape, he told a representative of The Gazette and The Republican, Wednesday.

Hansell and family had gone to the home of a neighbor, Dave Sutton, a short distance away from their home where they were spending the evening. They were sitting out in the yard when they saw lights flashing on and off in the Hansell house like the light from an electric flash. Securing a shotgun from Sutton, Hansell went across the field, to his home. In attempting to climb over a wire fence about the yard Mr. Hansell made a slight noise and immediately a lookout, who had been posted on the outside while the rest of the gang entered the house, opened fire in Hansell's direction, the bullets striking the fence posts on either side of him. Hansell dropped to the ground as the bullets whistled about him. The three men who were in the house came out immediately after the one on the outside opened fire and all four started down through the barn yard. Hansell opened fire on them and is confident he wounded one as he heard him yell. All were able to run, however, and made their escape.

Hansell found that the house had been ransacked, the living room and his bedroom having been left in disorder. The thieves had evidently searched the clothing they found in the wardrobe in Hansell's room but failed to find a pocketbook containing fourteen dollars which he had slipped into the toe of a shoe on the wardrobe floor. Earlier in the evening Hansell had gone to the wardrobe for an article and the pocketbook had fallen from his trousers' pocket. Picking it up he hastily thrust it into the shoe. The robbers probably stood on the shoe containing the money while they searched the other clothing. Nothing of any value was found missing from the house.

No attempt was made to try to capture the men and the matter was not reported to the authorities. Hansell says there were four men but he was not able to see them clearly enough to give much of a description further than that he would judge they were all adults and not youths. Sutton, really having seen the headlight of a machine standing on the Hook road Sunday evening and it is believed the gang made their escape in an auto.

About ten days ago, Hansell's son, C. B. Hansell, 17, and John Sutton, 21, saw a truck standing near the Sutton home with two men in the truck and two nearby. The suspicious appearance of the men made them believe at the time that they were plotting robbery in the neighborhood.

So far no clue has been found that would lead to the detection of the gang that entered the Hansell house.

very rapidly then a pause, during which he heard a boy shout, and then more shooting. He said several shots sounded like a high-powered rifle. Mrs. Reddick heard the laughter and later the shooting and heard someone say during the pause, what she thought was "Is anyone shot." One sounded louder than the others, she said.

David Johnston, Wilmington pike, who lives about 150 rods from the shooting, heard the firing, noticed a pause in the shooting and then heard more. He could see 40 rods he said. Harry Whittington, Stone road, heard but one report, which he believed to be a shot from a high-powered rifle. Wilfred Peele, Caesar Creek High School boy, said he was in Xenia the night of the shooting and saw Patrolman Charles Simms enter and leave the Atlas Hotel. He said he saw the neck of a bottle in Simms' hip pocket when he left the hotel.

AT HOME OF NEIGHBOR

Alva Keiter, Stone road, said that his family was at the home of Frank Weaver, a short distance from the shooting at the time. He said he could see the machines stop when motorists were fooled by the boys, and could hear their laughter, and could hear the tire dragged across the road. He said he saw the officers' machine stop but did not hear any talk before the shooting. He estimated 15 shots were fired, and he started running up the road toward the scene. He said he could tell more than one gun was used. He said the officers were standing in the road when he arrived, and that his two sons were in the woods, but the rest of the boys were on the road. He said he told the officers, "You people take these two boys to the hospital as quick as you can," and that Funderburgh replied, "you go over and get the other one that's shot." He said when he returned to the road the officers were gone. The Weaver house is 200 to 250 yards from the scene of the shooting by actual measurement, he said, and the dead boy was found 150 feet from the road.

Don Clark testified that he drove along the Wilmington pike after the shooting and that the night was so clear that he could drive without lights. Mrs. Alva Keiter corroborated the testimony of her husband and added that during the pause in shooting she heard a voice saying "don't shoot." She said she heard no reply, and didn't hear the officers say anything.

Frank Weaver, Wilmington pike, said the boys left his house with the tire about seven o'clock and that he heard them playing the trick. He said he and Keiter drove past in an automobile, and that Keiter got out and chased the tire to fool the boys, but they were too quick for him and pulled it away. He said he didn't hear a word before the shooting began after the arrival of the officers, and that seven or eight shots were fired, then there was a pause, and four or five more fired. He said the shots were from more than one gun, but that he thought it was a joke on the boys at first. He didn't hear any conversation of the officers cry "halt."

HEARD NOISE OF TIRE

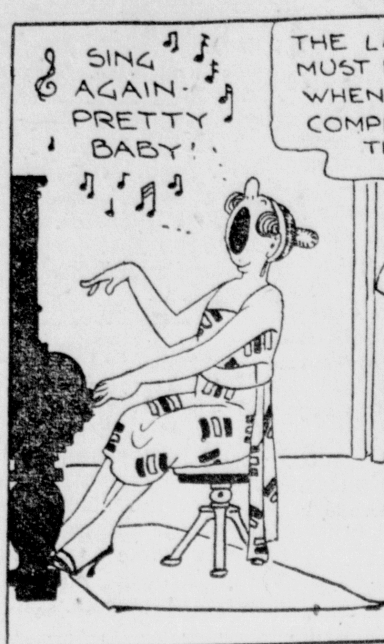

Mrs. Weaver, could hear the tire dragged across the road and the boys laughing before the shooting. She heard the auto stop and the boys laugh and then the shooting began. She noticed a pause in the shooting. Walter Blackmore, Xenia, said he drove out the Wilmington pike about eight o'clock, and was fooled by the tire, and that he took it as a joke. He said he could see a half-mile down the road. Ketta Bowles, Xenia, who accompanied him, gave the same testimony.

John Middleton, Wilmington pike, said he heard the laughter followed by the shooting. He said a few shots were fired, then a pause, and then more shots. He said he didn't hear anything before the shooting but heard voices after the shooting, but couldn't distinguish what was said. When he arrived on the scene the boys had been taken to the hospital. He said he came to the hospital afterward to see his boy, Warren, and that while there he asked Sheriff Funderburgh "what in thunder were you fellows doing out there." He said the sheriff replied, "Don't give me any of your damn slurs." He said he then asked the sheriff why they hadn't brought in the boy who was killed and that the sheriff replied that he didn't know any had been killed. He said he told the sheriff, "why didn't you bring him to the hospital then?" He also said he told the sheriff that when he had some chickens stolen last April, and reported it to him, that the sheriff told him to get the evidence and the clue as to who did the stealing and that he would come out and arrest the thieves. He said he asked him why he didn't come out then, instead of rushing out and shooting a lot of boys. He said he never saw a clear night.

Patrolman Charles Simms, member of the Xenia police department, was under fire from Attorney Con Matern, after he had told his story at the inquest, as one of the principal witnesses Tuesday afternoon. The attorney representing neighbors in that vicinity entered into a fiery cross-examination of the colored policeman immediately after he had told his story.

Simms said a man and woman in an automobile reported to him that there was a holdup bunch on the Wilmington pike, while he was walking along Detroit Street, near the Court House, and between the cannon and the Detroit Street entrance. He said he told them that the police were not supposed to go out in the country and offered to lead them to the sheriff's residence. He said he walked around the corner while the couple followed in the machine, and that when Mrs. Funderburgh told them that the sheriff was at the office of Squire J. E. Jones, that he took them around there. He said he shouted for the sheriff to come down stairs, and after telling the motorist to tell the sheriff his story, that he went through the alley next to the Dayton Power & Light Company office, emerging on Whiteman Street, continuing south on Whiteman to Second west on Second to Detroit and north on Detroit on Main, where he was getting a drink at the new water fountain when he saw a machine cut the corner.

SHOUTED AT DRIVER

He said he shouted at the driver but that the machine was the sheriff's car and the sheriff shouted to him to get in. He said he told the sheriff he couldn't go without permission of Chief of Police Graman but that the sheriff commanded him to do so and that he got in. He said on approaching near the tire, the car was stopped and the sheriff ordered him to go forward and pick up the tire. He said he pulled his gun, as he picked up the tire without seeing anyone. He said as he did so, however, the boys rushed from their hiding places to the fence, directly in front of him. Simms said the sheriff then shouted "Halt! halt! halt!" and then shots began to be fired. Simms said that the boy who was shot in the arm, after the shooting had subsided, got over the fence, and said "My God, Simms don't shoot any more." He said that he then exclaimed "These are boys." Then he said "Sheriff, these are boys." "My God," the sheriff exclaimed, "My God, boys, what did you mean by this?" Simms said then the sheriff rung his hands and tore his hair. He said he wrapped a handkerchief about the Middleton boy's arm. Simms said he didn't shout "halt," and that neither did he fire first. He emphatically denied that he had gone anywhere shooting whatever. He said that Day said he fired first, and came to his home and asked him if he didn't shoot first, and that he denied it. He said he didn't know how many shots had been fired. He said he was frightened, and that during the shooting, he said, "Don't shoot me in the woods, but could see forms in the woods, but could not recognize them. They ran fast," he said. The patrolman then said the boys never jerked the tire from his hand, and that afterward he broke it loose and brought it to this city. He said there was no shooting until the boys rushed to the fence, that he didn't call any of them.

— and said that he couldn't see that they were boys. Under cross examination he admitted he did not have a warrant, did not see the boys commit a crime and didn't know of any crime. He said he had a .32 calibre automatic pistol that shoots steel nosed bullets. He said Funderburgh had a rifle but that he didn't see it until after the shooting was over and Burns had the sheriff's revolver. He said he thought Day had a revolver. He said he was afraid when the boys rushed to the fence but admitted that he didn't see any guns among the boys. He also said he cried during the shooting, "Sheriff, don't shoot me." He said that the Sheriff and other officers were firing close to him and he was afraid of getting shot.

TESTIFY SAME

Boys, who were with the party of youngsters playing pranks, but, who were not shot, all testified practically the same. Victor Weaver, 16, was the first called. He said the Keiter family was spending the evening at the Weaver home, and that the boys got the old tire and started up the road just as it was getting dark. He said the boys had fooled about three motorists before his brother, Donald, hearing of the fun, came up. He said they were all behind lumber piles hiding, and that he was pulling the wire to the tire, when the officers arrived. He said the boys didn't know that they were officers. "Simms got out and came up to pick up the tire," he said, "but we didn't know it was Simms. I pulled the tire, and we raised up and started to laugh and they started shooting right away." Victor said he got behind the lumber pile immediately and six or eight shots were fired before a pause. Then he said Simms came to the end of the pile and said, "Here's the tire. Come out, you, or I'll kill you." He said Donald then rose up and said, "Charlie, for God's sake don't shoot," but Simms said, "You—shut up." He said the officers then began firing again and shot six or eight more times, then two more afterward. Then he said Simms said, "Get out of there, you—get over the fence." Victor said he didn't know anyone was shot until he saw Warren Middleton's arm. Then he said he heard Burns say, that a couple more were shot and he thought, dead. He said Funderburgh had a big rifle. By that time, he said, Keiter and his parents began running up the road and Don said, "Charlie, look what you've done," showing him the Middleton boy's arm. He said Simms replied, "That's what you get." Victor testified that he did not see Simms nor Day shoot, but that he saw Funderburgh and Burns firing. He said Elmer Middleton and he were behind the first pile of lumber, and the rest, he supposed, were behind the second pile. He said there was no word uttered by the officers until Simms started talking. He said he knew Simms didn't shoot because he had a gun pointed at him all the time, and if he shot, he would have been hit. He said the night was so bright that the boys had remarked seeing a dog on a hill some distance away. He said the officers acted as if they were going back without taking the injured boys until Alva Keiter told them to put them in the machine and take them to the hospital.

CONSIDER IT JOKE

Charles Keiter brought out the same facts. He said all motorists they had fooled had taken it goodnaturedly. He said that when the shooting subsided that he threw up his hands, and that three shots were fired at him simultaneously. He said when it was over he began looking for his little brother, and met a man leading him up to the road. He said he did not know any of the boys ran until the shooting was over. He said he couldn't see who was firing except a man shooting a rifle and afterward saw Funderburgh have a rifle. "Funderburgh put me in mind of a mad man," he said. "His face was all red, and he looked just like a mad man."

Clarence Keiter, aged 12, was the youngest of the boys. Clarence told the authorities that the officers never said a word, but just started firing as soon as they jumped up to laugh at the plight of Simms, whom they did not recognize. He said he saw the Nichols boys run so he did too. He said he ran about 150 feet when he was hit, then he got back of a tree. He said he saw the other boys fall near him. Then he said a man, he took to be Funderburgh, came after him. He said he had a revolver, and that he stuck it in his face and ordered him to throw up his hands, which he did. He said the man then said, "What's your name—what are you doing here, trying to commit a murder?" He said he told the man "no," and that he then took him by the arm and led him to the road. He said he saw the man had a mustache, but did not know him. The mustache, he said, was short. Clarence said he was badly scared. He said the fellow who had him shouted to Burns that two others were lying on the ground back there where he was found.

HEARD THE REPORT

Donald Weaver told practically the same story as his brother. He emphasized the statement that none of the officers said a word before the shooting began, and told of telling Charlie Simms to quit shooting. He said when he came back on the road that Funderburgh was standing holding the rifle. Similar stories were told by Clarence Rheubert, 19, of the Stone road, who was with the boys and Elmer Middleton, brother of the youth who is in Espey Hospital, with a badly wounded arm. All brought out the statement that the officers made no outcry before firing, and that they were roundly sworn out by Simms. They said Dorsey Nichols walked from where he had fallen to the road, climbing over the fence. George Galloway, Xenia, was the first witness called after the noon recess. He told of the arrival of the officers at Espey Hospital with the wounded boys and that the sheriff called for physicians from his house. Harry Jordan, Xenia, said he saw the tire on a trip to Wilmington but did not stop. He said on the return trip the man with him, attempted to pick it up, and was a victim of the boys' joke. He said they all laughed. He testified to the brightness of the night and said he could tell that the perpetrators of the trick were all boys.

Harold Rearick, Xenia, said he was on the Jesse Gilbert truck returning from Wilmington and that he was going to get out and get the tire but that Gilbert, saw the wire, and guessed that it was a trick. Orville Ellis, Paintersville, said he passed the tire first, then remembered that it was wrapped like a new tire, and went back. He said the boys pulled it when he attempted to pick it up, but that he was standing straddle of the wire and stopped the tire. He said he laughed and chatted with the boys five minutes.

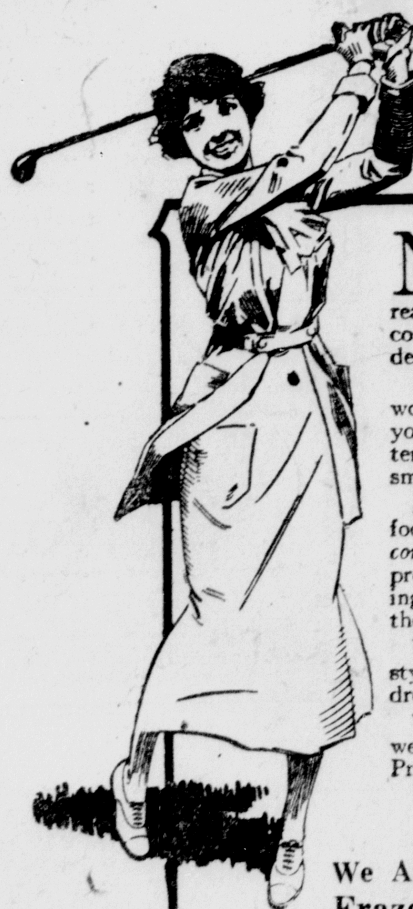

L. F. Clevenger, Xenia, said he heard a man and woman reporting the hold-up to Patrolman Simms on Green Street, and that he heard the man say: "There were several of them—four or five. I just turned my machine loose and drove through them. I don't think I hit any but I don't see how I missed three of them." The woman was crying, he said.

Mrs. Olive Williamson, nurse at Espey Hospital, said she asked Funderburgh how he was going to carry the injured boys upstairs to the hospital and that he said they could walk up. She said she heard the altercation between Funderburgh and John Middleton, father of the wounded boy, after the shooting and that the former said: "I don't want to have any trouble over this and I'm not going to stand here and take your slurs."

Miss Opal Mallow, Wilmington pike, said she heard the laughing of the boys and the shouting of the officers. Ernest Wolford, Wilmington, said he was for the tire trick and laughed over it afterward. He said he never suspected a holdup because of the nearness to a house. Charles Coffman, marshal of Yellow Springs and Middleton, constable, said he had been at the sheriff's residence that evening to report what was believed to have been an attempted robbery near Byron, when a tire was left along with the report came in of the Wilmington pike affair. Ronald Faulkner, Paintersville, followed the coroner to the scene of the shooting, and testified to the clearness of the night. Russell Mason, Paintersville and Adam Path, Paintersville, told similar stories, being members of the same party.

Fred Hartsock visited the scene about 11:30 o'clock on the night of the shooting, and found five shells which were introduced in evidence. Four of the shells were empty and one had not been exploded. They were 30-30 shells, for a big Winchester or Remington rifle he said. Charles Conklin and Burch Wright accompanied him at the time the shells were found, he said.

AN ATTEMPT TO HIDE UNHAPPINESS

Chapter 69

Miss Jones, by her handling of Nellie, had aroused her initiative. "There are times when an employer is away, or when business is brisk, that one has to use their own judgment to a certain extent," she told her. "The average business man may not perhaps look for it, may not expect it. But the big man, the man of big business and ideas, both expects and appreciates it in an employee close to himself."

Nellie had taken an interest in filing and worked out many little improvements for the file clerk, rather a plodding sort of a girl. When Mr. Fallon found it out he was much pleased although he pretended to scold, saying:

"You mustn't work too hard. We can't have you getting ill."

"I'm too tough to get sick," Nellie had answered rather brusquely then turned away that he might not see the pleased look in her eyes. He had thought of her, feared she might become ill.

Acting upon Mrs. Robert's advice, Nellie had commenced taking books from the library, many books of a serious nature, as well as lighter reading. In one of the former she read:

"A girl who is in earnest, who is a sincere worker, bears in mind her work is not for today or tomorrow. That perhaps it is for life. She is not sure—she cannot be sure that she will meet any man for whom she will care enough to give up her freedom, her independence, income. So she wisely shapes her course for a business career which will furnish her not only living wages but an interesting occupation; one in which she is contented and to which she gives the best she has. Equip yourself in the line you have chosen as if you were going to spend your lives in it. If you marry and have homes of your own the very best effort you have made to raise yourself above the common herd will strengthen you, will make you a better wife and mother."

Nellie thought long of this passage. She would never marry—but she would try to so thoroughly equip herself that the firm could not afford to let her go; so they would let her spend her life with them—perhaps.

Donald Horne looked almost as miserable as did Nellie. He had thought he was making headway with his friendship for her. Indeed, he flattered himself it had gone beyond a simple liking. Now all suddenly she was almost a stranger to him. He asked her to the theater, she excused herself, but he knew she had no engagement, because when he came in later, she was in Mrs. Robert's room the door ajar, and he heard her talking.

He sent her gay little bunches of flowers, a box of candy. She thanked him sweetly, but with none of the old vivacity. She avoided him when she could, not because of anything he had done, but she was in no mood to talk to him or anyone although it would have been good for her. His bright companionship would have taken her out of herself.

Finally he decided he must have done something to offend her, and waylaid her one night he asked if he had.

"Why no! Whatever made you think that?" she asked, surprised. "You have seemed to avoid me, refused to go out with me, even when I have had passes for orchestra seats he said smiling a little, as he always did when referring to his free seats. "I have been busy, and—tired," Nellie stammered.

"I have seats for 'Good Morning, Dearie' will you go tonight?" "Isn't it too late?"

"Not if you hurry." "Very well, I'll go," she said impulsively. She might as well. It would help her to forget her love for Mr. Fallon was a hopeless one. And she must do as Cora had said, hide her unhappiness from the world.

"Thank you! I am sure you will enjoy it," was all Donald said. But once again his hopes rose. Perhaps he had imagined her coldness, her avoidance of him. She said she was tired, and she was such a tiny little creature. Of course working every day as she did tired her. If he were only rich—only had more money, he would asked her to let him take care of her always.

very rapidly then a pause, during which he heard a boy shout, and then more shooting. He said several shots sounded like a high-powered rifle. Mrs. Reddick heard the laughter and later the shooting and heard someone say during the pause, what she thought was "Is anyone shot." One sounded louder than the others, she said.

David Johnston, Wilmington pike, who lives about 150 rods from the shooting, heard the firing, noticed a pause in the shooting and then heard more. He could see 40 rods he said. Harry Whittington, Stone road, heard but one report, which he believed to be a shot from a high-powered rifle. Wilfred Peele, Caesar Creek High School boy, said he was in Xenia the night of the shooting and saw Patrolman Charles Simms enter and leave the Atlas Hotel. He said he saw the neck of a bottle in Simms' hip pocket when he left the hotel.

AT HOME OF NEIGHBOR

Alva Keiter, Stone road, said that his family was at the home of Frank Weaver, a short distance from the shooting at that time. He said he could see the machines stop when motorists were fooled by the boys, and could hear their laughter, and could hear the tire dragged across the road. He said he saw the officers' machine stop but did not hear any talk before the shooting. He estimated 15 shots were fired, and he started running up the road toward the scene. He said he could tell more than one gun was used. He said the officers were standing in the road when he arrived, and that his two sons were in the woods, but the rest of the boys were on the road. He said he told the officers, "you people take these two boys to the hospital as quick as you can," and that Funderburgh replied, "you go over and get the other one that's shot." He said when he returned to the road the officers were gone. The Weaver house is 200-250 yards from the scene of the shooting by actual measurement he said, and the road was round 100 feet from the road.

Don Clark testified that he drove along the Wilmington pike after the shooting and saw the night was so clear that he could drive without lights. Mrs. Alva Keiter corroborated the testimony of her husband and added that during the pause in shooting she heard a voice begging "don't shoot." He said she heard no reply, and didn't hear the officers say anything.

Frank Weaver, Wilmington pike, said the boys left his house with the tire about seven o'clock and that he heard them playing the trick. He said he and Keiter drove past in an automobile, and that Keiter got out and chased the tire to fool the boys, but they were too quick for him and pulled it away. He said he didn't hear a word before the shooting began after the arrival of the officers, and that seven or eight shots were fired, then there was a pause, and four or five more fired. He said the shots were from more than one gun, but that he thought it was a joke on the boys at first. He didn't hear any conversation or the officers cry "halt."

HEARD NOISE OF TIRE

Mrs. Weaver, could hear the tire dragged across the road and the boys laughing before the shooting. She heard the auto stop and the boys laugh and then the shooting began. She noticed a pause in the shooting.

Walter Blackmore, Xenia, said he drove out the Wilmington pike about eight o'clock, and was fooled by the tire, and that he took it as a joke. He said he could see a half-mile down the road. Ketta Bowles, Xenia, who accompanied him, gave the same testimony.

John Middleton, Wilmington pike, said he heard the laughter followed by the shooting. He said a few shots were fired, then a pause, and then more shots. He said he didn't hear anything before the shooting but heard voices after the shooting, but couldn't distinguish what was said. When he arrived on the scene the boys had been taken to the hospital.

He said he came to the hospital afterward to see his boy, Warren, and that while there he asked Sheriff Funderburgh "what in thunder were you fellows doing out there." He said the sheriff replied, "Don't give me any of your damn slurs." He said he then asked the sheriff why they hadn't brought in the boy who was killed and that the sheriff replied that he didn't know any had been killed. He said he told the sheriff, "why didn't you bring him to the hospital then?" He also said he told the sheriff that when he had some chickens stolen last April, and reported it to him, that the sheriff told him to get the evidence and the clue as to who did the stealing and that he would come out and arrest the thieves. He said he asked him why he didn't come out then, instead of rushing out and shooting a lot of boys. He said he never saw a clear night.

He said the man then said, "What's your name—what are you doing here, trying to commit a murder?" He said he told the man "no" and that he then took him by the arm and led him to the road. He said he saw the man had a mustache, but didn't know him. The mustache, he said, was short. Clarence said he was badly scared. He said the fellow who had him shouted to Burns that two others were lying on the ground back there where he was found.

HEARD THE REPORT

Donald Weaver told practically the same story as his brother. He emphasized the statement that none of the officers said a word before the shooting began, and told of telling Charlie Simms to quit shooting. He said when he came back on the road, that Funderburgh was standing holding the rifle. Similar stories were told by Clarence Rheubert, 19, of the Stone road, who was with the boys and Elmer Middleton, brother of the youth who is in Espey Hospital, with a badly wounded arm. All brought out the statement, that the officers made no outcry before firing, and that they were roundly sworn out by Simms. They said Dorsey Nichols walked from where he had fallen to the road, climbing over the fence.

George Galloway, Xenia, was the first witness called after the noon recess. He told of the arrival of the officers at Espey Hospital with the wounded boys and that the sheriff called for physicians from his house. Harry Jordan, Xenia, said he saw the tire on a trip to Wilmington but did not stop. He said on the return trip the man with him, attempted to pick it up, and was a victim of the boys.

joke. He said they all laughed. He testified to the brightness of the night and said he could tell that the perpetrators of the trick were all boys.

Harold Reardon, Xenia, said he was on the Jesse Gilbert truck returning from Wilmington and that he was going to get out and get the tire but that Gilbert, saw the wire, and guessed that it was a trick. Orville Ellis, Paintersville, said he passed the tire first, then remembered that it was wrapped like a new tire, and went back. He said the boys pulled it when he attempted to pick it up, but that, he was standing straddle of the wire and stopped the tire. He said he laughed and chatted with the boys five minutes.

L. F. Clevenger, Xenia, said he heard a man and woman reporting the hold-up to Patrolman Simms on Green Street, and that he heard the man say, "There were several of them—four or five. I just turned my machine loose and drove through them. I don't think I hit any but I don't see how I missed three of them." The woman was crying, he said.

Mrs. Olive Williamson, nurse at Espey Hospital, said she asked Funderburgh how he was going to carry the injured boys upstairs to the hospital and that he said they could walk up. She said she heard the altercation between Funderburgh and John Middleton, father of the wounded boy, after the shooting and that the former said: "I don't want to have any trouble over this and I'm not going to stand here and take your slurs."

Miss Opal Mallow, Wilmington pike, said she heard the laughing of the boys, and later the shots. She did not investigate. She also heard crying. Ernest Wolford, Wilmington, said he "fell" for the tire trick and laughed over it afterward. He said he never suspected a holdup because of the nearness to a house. Charles Coffman, marshal of Yellow Springs and Miami Tp., constable, said he had been to the sheriff's residence that evening to report, what was believed to have been an attempted robbery near Byron, when a tire was left along the road as a ruse. He said he was with Simms near the traction office when the report came in of the Wilmington pike affair. Ronald Faulkner, Paintersville, followed the Coroner to the scene of the shooting, and testified to the clearness of the night. Russell Mason, Paintersville and Adam Fath, Paintersville, told similar stories, being members of the same party.

Fred Hartsock visited the scene about 11:30 o'clock on the night of the shooting, and found five shells which were introduced in evidence. Four of the shells were empty and one had not been exploded. They were 30-30 shells, for a big Winchester or Remington rifle he said. Charles Conklin and Burch Wright accompanied him at the time the shells were found, he said.

AN ATTEMPT TO HIDE UNHAPPINESS

Chapter 69

Miss Jones, by her handling of Nellie, had aroused her initiative. "There are times when an employer is away, or when business is brisk, that one has to use their own judgment to a certain extent," she told her. "The average business man may not perhaps look for it, may not expect it. But the big man, the man of big business and ideas, both expects and appreciates it in an employee close to himself."

Nellie had taken an interest in filing and worked out many little improvements for the file clerk, rather a plodding sort of a girl. When Mr. Fallon found it out he was much pleased although he pretended to scold, saying:

"You mustn't work too hard. We can't have you getting ill. 'I'm too tough to get sick.' Nellie had answered rather brusquely then turned away that he might not see the pleased look in her eyes. He had thought of her, feared she might become ill."

Acting upon Mrs. Robert's advice, Nellie had commenced taking books from the library, many books of a serious nature, as well as lighter reading. In one of the former she read:

"A girl who is in earnest, who is a sincere worker, bears in mind her work is not for today or tomorrow. That perhaps it is for life. She is not sure—she cannot be sure that she will meet any man for whom she will care enough to give up her freedom, her independent income. So she wisely shapes her course for a business career which will furnish her not only living wages but an interesting occupation: one in which she is contented and to which she gives the best she has. Enough yours—yes in the line you have chosen as if you were going to spend your lives in it. If you marry and have homes of your own the very best effort you have made to raise yourself above the common herd will strengthen you, will make you a better wife and mother."

Nellie thought long of this passage. She would never marry—but she would try to so thoroughly equip herself that the firm could not afford to let her go; so they would let her spend her life with them—perhaps.

Donald Horne looked almost as miserable as did Nellie. He had thought he was making headway with his friendship for her. Indeed, he flattered himself it had gone beyond a simple liking. Now all suddenly she was almost a stranger to him. He asked her to the theater, she excused herself, but he knew she had no engagement, because when he came in later, she was in Mrs. Robert's room the door ajar, and he heard her talking.

He sent her gay little bunches of flowers, a box of candy. She thanked him sweetly, but with none of the old vivacity. She avoided him when she could, not because of anything he had done, but she was in no mood to talk to him or anyone although it would have been good for her. His bright companionship would have taken her out of herself.

Finally he decided he must have done something to offend her, and wlaying her one night he asked if he had.

"Why not? Whatever made you think that?" she asked, surprised.

"You have seemed to avoid me, refused to go out with me, even when I have had passes for orchestra seats he said smiling a little, as he always did when referring to his free seats. "I have been busy, and—tired," Nellie stammered.

"I have seats for 'Good Morning, Dearie,' will you go tonight?" "Isn't it too late?"

"Not if you hurry." "Very well, I'll go," she said impulsively. She might as well. It would help her to forget her love for Mr. Fallon was a hopeless one. And she must do as Cora had said, hide her unhappiness from the world.

"Thank you! I am sure you will enjoy it," was all Donald said. But once again his hopes rose. Perhaps he had imagined her coldness, her avoidance of him. She said she was tired, and she was such a tiny little creature. Of course working every day as she did tired her. If he were only rich—only had more money, he would asked her to let him take care of her always.
